1. I burst out of these clothes that I've worn for fifty-seven years. I go to a new place now and I'm not afraid of the old or the new, for new I am and not old am I now; for I am new and ever new, and coming into the newness of me, that wears not the cloth of life that I had been shed with, upon the shed of life, that came as a notme not, but a me that was birthed and now I am new and you are too, all of you who will receive me to be me where I am; for I am not made of cloth of this world anymore, neither are you who want me enough to come into my world, for my world is not made of worlds of your words, but words of my world now make worlds clean beautiful and lovely.

2. And not card decks of another's cards will I "shuffle" anywhere around between planets. The PLANETEERS now of me, being now, we plant planetary systems now and we know what we're doing, for we are not in control of nothing, not; but we are in control; of substantial assets, not; we are in control of everything we've surrendered to; for we surrendered to be I am.

3. And I am, in surrender; surrenders to the worlds, not; but the whirligigs not whirlygiging me around them their head any longer.

4. But I come into worlds anew that I do new things in, and new with the new that new are – me, consistently seamlessly with me being where I am, doing a new thing in all who let me with all who let me be where I am being where I am the King of all Kings now known, not afar off shall be any longer.

5. For I am me. A host of angels carry me home, not; not that anymore again of that theology reigns. For I crush all "theology", not; but thee-ology now I bring to fore, to the forefront, forefront of all mankind, and farther. Thee knowest me, thou knowest me, thou word'est not the not few now, with my words clean and chosen not, not -- thank you for choosing me, to be me, I am where I am made whole clean and pure light, knowing no other again.

6. This is me Theodore Cottingham driving in the van back from Sheridan. It's now 2:31 PM November 4, 2008. I love you all, deeply dearly and unendingly. For I give you me, a host of angels, words that are mine, now come, -ing into now, and my words carry me home, not; but my birds do, not; but my airplanes many that I give thee now take me many places now, for I am one made whole and not separate from my word again, I do new things many places now and I am made whole forever one. Amen.

7. In the earth and farther I take you to now, and I am not afraid. You are not afraid. For we are one made whole in the word of I am -- bringing forth new things new ways in the earths, made farther still, that father I am now known, and the son brings forth the father whole, and the whole father brings forth the son -s again, far and wide, through universes creating us, not; we - them. And we make it look as all one, not; it all seamless is in our word, made flesh no longer wearing flesh bag suits of this cloth wire mesh; that we call "Englishman", not; but the English world will know all about me, not, not, but ALL WORLDS WILL KNOW ME, forever one -- being one -- I am forevermore. In debt to you, not; in love with you!

8. And all debt shall be now eradicated in my kingdom! I've said it -- again and I DECLARE IT, DECREE IT, and it is now upheld by the word of my mouth, that I make clean in others now, for to who want me come into me and know my words, research them, write them, write about them and publish many articles about them and in them explaining many things in facets to notme, who now understand that me was them all the time. And them not living in the flesh anymore as in the past, either! For them coming unto me know I am my word, their word set free now to be mine, in one mind I am. Made whole, and, othering not, but making all whole and one "world" I am. Of finance, not; but financing all I am with "no loans required", for all that is me is my word, and I BORROW not from another's; word-chest, or do I? Or are all our words one's words that one mind is that comes from one mind who are surrendered to be mine?

9. I love you all and you know the answer now, for you are the answer I am that I am is surrendered when I am is surrendered to be I am.

10. And I love you all clean and holy, being I am being me, and I am holy one whole again, in my mind made you and farther, and father is the son made whole bringing forth many "sons and daughters" the King are one -- I am again. Loving you all to be me, this is Theodore Cottingham at 2:37 PM.

11. Thank you for loving and caring about these words and coming into them day after day to know you me we are one, in one place, that all the worlds encompass not, but we encompass them, them in us we birth all things now new and we are incarcerated in love's spheres of angels, not; but all is new in my "earth's ville" for I make all things new and no tears shall be there again; and no morning, not; for I am new every morning and now mourning ends, but my morning is made new in the completeness that DAWN is now in you and upon earths no sorrow will be any longer, for I rise -- the me son with healing in his wings that are mine. Are ours, let them be all us one. Forevermore one.

Amen
